Try writing the letter ‘W’
Encourage your preschooler to write an uppercase ‘W’ (slant down, slant up, slant down, slant up) and lowercase ‘w’ (little slant down, up, down, up) in the space below.
Walking stick likes walking in the woods with his friends. Work with your child to label these animals who live in the woods.

Modeling behaviors for your preschooler, like reading and writing in front of them, is a powerful way to motivate your child to emulate those behaviors.
Try writing the letter ‘X’
Encourage your preschooler to write an uppercase ‘X’ (slant down, slant across) and a lowercase ‘x’ (slant and slant across) in the space below. Breaking the letters down into their smaller parts is a great start!
Have your child color in the items below, and practice signing his or her name.

Words that End in Xx:

!Dinosaur

!Bull

!Fox

!Box

My Name is: ________________________________

Talk about the different letters (upper and lowercase) in your child’s name.
Try writing the letter ‘Y’
Encourage your preschooler to write an uppercase ‘Y’ (little slant and little slant and little down) and a lowercase ‘y’ (slant down and long slant down) in the space below.

Breaking the letters down into their smaller parts is a great start!
Work with your child to label these pictures that start with the letter Y. Write the word in each box.

The more words your child knows the better prepared they will be for kindergarten. Labeling objects builds knowledge of familiar and unfamiliar objects, animals, things and ideas.
Zoo starts with Z. Use the space below to practice writing an uppercase ‘Z’ (over, slant down, over) and a lowercase ‘z’ (over, slant, over) in the space below. Breaking the letters down into their smaller parts is a great start!
Sometimes, in books, when people or animals are sleeping, we use Z’s to show it.

Can you color in this sleeping dog, and make some more Zz’s for him?

Talk about upper and lowercase letters with your child. Make time for writing three times a week for about five minutes.